West Cleaning Up After Rain, 45 Are Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The West Coast from San Francisco to British Columbia mopped up today after hurricane winds and torrential downpours left at least 47 dead and scores homeless in one of the vast area's worst storm of the century.

Damage amounted to uncounted millions in northern California and western Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. Not even a rough estimate of the total loss could be tabulated.

Parts of major cities and many small towns in the 75,000-square-mile storm area still were without telephone service. Emergency phone crews were flown into the area in chartered planes to patch the lines today.

The storm, whiplash tail of two dying Pacific typhoons, struck the coast Thursday night, battering Oregon the hardest. It lost its punch Sunday as it moved inland and ran up against the Rocky Mountains.

The job ahead: Caring for the homeless, more than 150 families in Oregon alone. Restoring broken gas lines, power lines and telephone service. Clearing sewer streets and highways of storm debris—tons of mud, windblown trees, shattered billboards and signposts. Shoring up sliding houses, shoveling silt out of others.

Oregon's Gov. Mark Hatfield estimated storm losses in his state at more than $150 million.

Property damage estimates for British Columbia ran as high as $1 million.

No daily had been made of the loss in Washington or California, but it was expected to reach into the millions.

Oakland, Calif., was cut off for hours Saturday by flood waters choking streets and highways into the city. Emergency crews had opened all thoroughfares today except a main access tunnel to the east. A mud slide had knocked out the tunnel's ventilating and signal systems and it may be closed until Wednesday.

Objectives Stressed at DAR Meet

Mrs. John A. Carr, Arkadelphia, State Regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, was a special guest of the John Cain Chapter at its October meeting in the home of Mrs. Frank McLarty.

In her address, Mrs. Carr stressed three objectives: Increased Membership; a Study of the DAR Handbook and Improved Publicity and Press Relations.

Quoting the national theme, "Prove all things, hold fast that which is good," Mrs. Carr said, "We, the DAR, are holding fast to the good by being actively alert to every opportunity to promote constant and increased reverence for our American heritage."

"The DAR has been tireless and vigilant against subversive influences in this country. We know that if ever there was a time when the numerical strength of practice women, united in a common purpose, we needed, it is now," she said.

As an example of the fact that the DAR has many activities about which the public is not informed, Mrs. Carr pointed out that the Society had spent more than $2,000,000 in loans and scholarships to students. She urged members to increase their knowledge of DAR aims and activities and to tell the "DAR story" at every opportunity in order to change the public image of DAR.

Nurses to Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The 50th annual convention of the Arkansas State Nurses Association will be held in Little Rock next Thursday and Friday. Special guests will include Mrs. Margaret Dolan of Chapel Hill, N.C., president of the American Nurses Association, and Miss Barbara Schut, editor of the American Journal of Nursing.

The convention opened in Little Rock Sunday and will continue through Thursday. About 500 persons from throughout the United States and some from foreign countries are expected to attend. Technical study sessions were to be held today.

Smoke Means Money

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Legislative auditors said Saturday that Arkansasans are smoking more and the state treasury is richer because of it. The auditors said cigarette stamps and permits accounted for $10,017,650 in the fiscal year ended June 30. This was $300,303 higher than the previous year, they said.

DETAINED AS SPY — Robert Roy Budway, a Washington resident, has been detained in Czechoslovakia on spy charges, it was announced.

Links Act 1 to Increase in Taxes

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said here Sunday if Initiated Act 1 is passed Nov. 6 and state services continue to operate at their present level an increase in state taxes may become necessary.

Faubus, speaking at the dedication of a new $281,000 rehabilitation building at the Arkansas Children's Colony, pointed to Act 1 as being wrong in principle and pointless.

The act would allocate 50 percent of state general revenues to the Public School Fund.

Faubus said there is no need for the act because "representatives of the people should be able to consider these funds and allocate them in an equitable way."

The Arkansas Education Association backs the act.

Joshua K. Shepherd, chairman of the Arkansas Committee for the Public Schools, said Saturday the act would not limit the prerogative of the legislature to make appropriations. He said the prerogative already is limited by voters.

Shepherd criticized the belief that it was wrong to earmark funds for schools is ridiculous. He said three per cent of general revenues are tagged for constitutional and administrative agencies.

Faubus indicated he would not allow state agencies to be hampered and said, consequently, higher taxes would be necessary. The act will be on the general election ballot.

U.S. Assures Civilians in Berlin of Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has assured West Germans that it is determined to maintain the right of civilian as well as military access to West Berlin against any new Soviet attempt to isolate the city.

U.S. policy on this point is understood to have been stated emphatically to West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder, who began strategy talks with Secretary of State Dean Rusk here Sunday.

Schroeder will be followed to Washington Nov. 7 by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer who wants to discuss the Berlin situation with President Kennedy in advance of a possible Kennedy meeting with Soviet Premier Khrushchev concerning Berlin.

Kennedy, Rusk and other Western leaders believe that Khrushchev is planning some new action which may precipitate a fresh Berlin crisis before the end of the year. American officials see a 50-50 chance that before taking any decisive step, however, the Soviet leader may come to the U.N. General Assembly meeting in New York and also confer with Kennedy in the hope of winning Western concessions on Berlin.

If the Russians do launch an intensified campaign against the Western position in Berlin, the point of attack may well be the surface and air lifeline across East Germany linking the city with West Germany. The U.S. policy decision on civilian right of access, therefore, is considered of vital importance, for it implies that this country and its allies have decided they will not tolerate a Communist blockade measures.

Western diplomats say it is expected that the East Germans will shortly institute some regulation requiring regular diplomatic visas for civilians crossing East Germany territory to the Western sector of Berlin. This could be construed as a bid for a greater degree of Western recognition of East German authority over the supply line.

The United States, Britain and France maintain their position in Berlin and their access to the city as a right of occupation resulting from the 1945 agreement.

Miss Jacoby Spotlights 'Children'

"Spotlight in the Children," the theme this year of the Department of Classroom Teachers, National Education Association, was the subject of a talk which the national president, Miss Rita Jacoby, made before a group of teachers and interested citizens at the Hope Junior High School auditorium Sunday afternoon.

Miss Jacoby, who has taken a year's leave of absence from the Jersey City, N.J., public schools while filling the national office, pointed out that education is not a "two by four" plan-knowledge obtained only from between the two covers of a book and confined to users within the four walls of the classroom.

Education is much more, Miss Jacoby said, and the influence of the classroom teacher is extremely great. She illustrated her talk with several personal experiences which brought appreciable laughter from those assembled. The accomplishments of the Classroom Teachers branch of NEA since it was organized 50 years ago were cited by the speaker, as were its problems, projects, and professional negotiations.

Mrs. James McLarty, representing the Hempstead County Classroom Teachers, welcomed the group which included people from Miller, Sevier, Union, Ouachita, and Hempstead Counties. After recognizing educators from Hope, Blevins, and Washington, she introduced the speaker of the afternoon.

Among the highlights of Miss Jacoby's interesting message, were remarks about a trip to West Berlin she had made last spring as President of the Classroom Teachers. She challenged her listeners and all of society to invest in America's future — the children in the classrooms of today.

Prior to the meeting, the Hope High School Orchestra presented several selections. A reception in the Home Economics Cottage was held in conclusion.

Hope Native Killed in Auto Accident Friday

Mrs. Kato Garner, Circuit Clerk of Ouachita County, was killed instantly Friday when she suffered a heart attack and her car left the road near Delight. She and her husband were en route to the Arkansas-Baylor football game at Fayetteville.

Mrs. Garner was a native of Hope, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Clark A. Stephenson. She was a past president of the Camden B&PW Club, a teacher in the Methodist Sunday School and had served as organist at the First Methodist and St. Mark Methodist Churches.

Survivors include her husband, Roy, a son, Thomas C. Garner of New Orleans, a brother, Ralph Stephenson of Jena, La., and a sister, Mrs. Pauline Ables of Camden.

Funeral services were held at 4 p. m. Sunday at First Methodist Church of Camden by Dr. George J. and the Rev. Louis Mueky. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Belgians in Riot, 45 Are Jailed

By JOHN SWAELENS

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Police today freed 45 persons arrested after riotous clashes between thousands of Belgium's two rival peoples, the dutch-speaking Flemings and the French-speaking Walloons. Five remained in jail.

Three persons remained in hospitals after the Sunday clashes in which thousands of Flemish youth and farmers from northern Belgium staged a protest march in the capital and ran into a counter-demonstration by Walloons. The Flemings, who make up 60 per cent of the population, were protesting what they called their subjugation by the Walloons.

Nineteen persons were injured and 50 arrested. Few of the injured were hospitalized.

Despite the showers of eggs, missiles and insults exchanged in the two-hour brawl, some Belgians did not lose their sense of humor over the outbreak.

Walloon students at Liege University sent a message to Acting U.S. Ambassador to Belgium, saying, "Flemish extremists invading capital. Send forces urgently. Article 22."

Article 22 of the U. N. charter says the General Assembly may set up such special organs and fact-finding bodies as are necessary to carry out its functions.

$2.4 Public Works Bill Is Authorized

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise $2.4 billion omnibus water projects authorization bill approved by the Senate and sent to the White House Saturday included $4,800,000 for Arkansas.

The bill, approved by voice vote, would authorize future construction on some 207 flood control, navigation, beach erosion, and power projects in various states.

The compromise was approved by the House Friday night after a House-Senate conference committee hammered out differences between the widely varying original bills of the two bodies.

Arkansas projects for which funds were authorized included: Russellville Sewage System, $1,400,000; Village Creek, Jackson and Lawrence Counties, $1,963,000; Village Creek, White River and Mayberry levee districts, $1,018,000; Arkansas - Red River basins water quality study projects, $300,000; replacement of bridges over Beaufort River and Big Bayou, $115,000.

The original House bill called for expenditure of about $2.25 billion. This was hiked to more than $4 billion by the Senate, but in conference, the Senate acceded to the demands of the House that several of the measures be eliminated.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Peach Growers Conference will meet in Little Rock Nov. 7-8 to study peach marketing, orchard management, crop insurance, processing and research. The conference is sponsored by the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation and the Agricultural Extension Service.

Six Men Sink Armed Cuban Patrol Boat

By SATURNINO NORIEGA

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Six men the Coast Guard said sank an armed Cuban patrol boat and made off with two wounded militiamen were questioned today by federal agents at the immigration detention center in suburban Opa-Locka.

The men were taken from Cay Sal, a British isle in the Straits off Cuba, by a Coast Guard cutter Sunday night. They had sought refuge at Cay Sal after the raid.

Immigration officials said the six would not be available to newsmen for questioning "for the present." The Coast Guard cutter took the six to Key West Sunday night and they were transported this morning to Miami.

The two militiamen were flown from the tiny island off the southeast Florida coast to Miami by Coast Guard helicopter. They were listed in fair condition at a hospital after surgery for bullet wounds.

District Immigration Director Edward Ahrens said one of the two, Sgt. Filiberto Suarez Lima, 40, asked for asylum in the United States. The other man was identified as Cpl. Miguel Cao Mendina, about 30.

Ahrens said the two told immigration officers they and two other military men were on patrol duty in an 18-foot boat Friday night, off Varadero Beach, east of Havana.

Cao and Suarez said a larger boat opened fire on them, sinking their vessel and wounding Cao in the groin and Suarez in the leg. The patrol boat sank, and men on the larger boat lifted the two militiamen from the water. The other two men were swimming to shore when last seen, Suarez said.

The six walked off the Coast Guard boat at Key West, climbed into waiting automobiles, and were whisked off to immigration offices for preliminary questioning before being sent to Miami.

One had a bandage on his hand, but none of the disheveled group appeared to be seriously hurt. Suarez' account of the incident conflicted with a Cuban Government announcement that a vessel had attacked a pleasure yacht, apparently killing two people.

House Adds to Water Works Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A multi-billion dollar compromise public works appropriations bill was approved by the House Saturday.

The House added $1,265,000 for seven additional water projects before approving the bill. It carries a total of $5,069,134,000. The House had sought passage of a $4.6 billion bill and the Senate of a $2.5 billion package.

The measure now goes to the Senate for consideration. Included in the bill is $400 million to start President Kennedy's emergency public works program to depressed areas. It also would provide $1.2 billion for Army Engineers and Reclamation Bureau for various types of water projects.

The Senate had added $600,000 to the bill for construction of navigation locks and dams on the Arkansas River and tributaries and $350,000 for the Gihlan Reservoir. It had cut the Greers Ferry reservoir appropriation for $4.9 million to $4,832,000 but gave the Ouachita and Black River appropriation $165,000 the House had not approved.

Body Buried After 50 Year Period

VANDALE, Ark. (AP) — The legend of Tommy Moon was buried Sunday during a driving rain at Vandale Cemetery while over 200 persons attended.

The embalmed body which had lain since 1909 in a Marianna funeral home was buried in a 1 1/2 hour ceremony.

The body was buried as George Clark Berry, Mrs. Thomas Peck of Cherry Valley, identified the body last month as that of Berry, her father.

Berry came to be known as Tommy Moon because, there were no identification papers on him and because, legend has it, he was found by a man named Tommy on a moonlit night.

For 53 years the body remained unidentified and unclaimed in the funeral home until publicity prompted Mrs. Peck to investigate.

Arkansas Death Toll Reaches 17

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain-slicked Arkansas highways claimed two lives Sunday, boosting the state's violent death total for the week ended midnight Sunday to 17.

Billy Lecaze, eight months, was killed when the car in which he was riding skidded off U.S. Highway 270 at Sheridan and smashed into a pine tree.

Three other persons, all of Chicago, Ill., were injured in the crash that killed the boy. They were hospitalized at Little Rock, but only one, McKinley Beaudoin, 58, was believed in serious condition.

Also injured were Lecaze's mother, Beulah, 35, and Beaudoin's wife, Marie, also 58.

A Woodson Negro, Charles Lee Adams, 42, was killed Sunday when the car in which he was riding went out of control near the College Station community at Little Rock.

Police said Arthur Striblet, 16, was driving the car and suffered possible internal injuries. Two other persons, Clara Jordan, 28, and Dorothy Jackson, 24, both of College Station, were treated at a Little Rock hospital and dismissed. Striblet was hospitalized in fair condition.

Police said the car apparently was rounding a curve when it skidded and careened 100 feet off the road and struck a utility pole. During the week 11 other persons died of injuries received in traffic accidents, one was stabbed to death, one drowned, one burned to death and one was killed when run over by a train.

Arkansan to Visit Son in Russia

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Frank Luky, 74, of Little Rock, left by plane Sunday for a trip to Russia with hopes of visiting a son she hasn't seen in 50 years, and fear of her homeland.

Mrs. Luky and her 10-year-old son, Boris Belman, parted in Russia in 1912. She came to marry Frank Luky and left Belman, a son by a former marriage, with her father.

During the confusion of the Russian Revolution and World War I she lost contact with her family and it was not reestablished until little over a year ago. A relative contact between Belman and Mrs. Luky restored contact between Belman and Mrs. Luky.

Mrs. Luky said Belman, now 60, was a civil engineer at Odessa, a large Ukrainian city on the Black Sea. She said he has a wife, who is a doctor, a daughter and a grand child.

Belman's letters are censored in Russia and not very informative.

Mrs. Luky said, but apparently he has done well and is happy.

As she boarded a plane for New York Mrs. Luky said she will be allowed only seven nights in Odessa and must stay at a hotel instead of at her son's house.

She said she has been told a Russian will be with her and Belman at all times.

"Russia I don't care about," she said. "Some good times—here you can't go, there you can't stay, this you can't do, I just want to see my son. I hope there is no trouble."

Dental Group Plans Golf Match

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—The 19th annual seminar of the Arkansas State Dental Association opened in Pine Bluff Sunday with a golf tournament and sportsman's banquet.

Delegates are scheduled to hear outstanding dental experts today. Associated organizations meeting during the seminar include the Arkansas unit of the American Society of Dentistry for Children, the dental auxiliary, dental assistants and dental hygienists.

$1.7 Billion State Income

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service said Saturday Arkansas taxpayers reported $1.7 billion gross income in 45,000 federal tax returns filed for 1960.

After allowances for deductions and exemptions, the IRS said, a taxable income of $737 million was reported, resulting in a tax liability of $165 million.

This is an increase of .03 per cent over the 1959 report of $735 million income and an increase of 1.2 per cent in the tax liability of $167 million, the IRS said.

An increase over 1959 was shown in salaries and wages, dividends and interest. The IRS reported a 15.1 per cent rise in income from interest and a 10 per cent increase in income from dividends.

Salaries were $1.3 million higher.

Columbine Pepper Druggett was the unofficial secretary to her aunt Miss Egeria Cordwainer, proprietor and head-mistress of the Cordwainer School. The title of the institution was stark, severe and uninviting. Its prospectus announced that a certain number of young ladies from five to 10 years of age were accepted each year in the grove of Academe to be instructed primarily in polish, elegance, grace, taste, refinement and delicacy, with what might be termed a post-graduate course in finesse.

The standards of admission were high. Wealth could not buy its way in; influence could not force the doors; family eminence alone would not suffice, though it helped. In short, in the Cordwainer, most perfect flowering.

Miss Cordwainer scorned business efficiency and debits and credits. The Government required her to keep books, which she did in a manner to bewilder income tax inspectors. "My fees," she said, "are so high that I do not have to vex myself with such trivialities as costs or overhead or outlay."

Columbine's father had deserted her mother when the baby was three years old, and her mother had died and left her alone at the age of 5. Miss Cordwainer, her aunt and sole living relative, had rescued her and taken her into the school where she had been reared in a curiously haphazard but not unkind fashion. She had been permitted rather than ordered to attend classes, and when, at 10, she had completed what the school had to offer, there was an end to it. Miss Cordwainer was not interested in education beyond the point where her school left off.

Inasmuch as the pupils wore a sort of uniform dating back to the days of Godey's Lady's Book, which she herself had approximated as she grew older, she was little concerned with the mode. Her hair was not bobbed, but bathed in a bun at the back of her head so tightly drawn that it pulled at her eyes and gave them a sort of slanting, Oriental look. The eyes so disfigured were liquid and intelligent. She was 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighed 110 pounds. She wore steel-rimmed spectacles.

Columbine Pepper Druggett reached the age of 21 in August. It was in October that she received the first letter that ever had been addressed to her.

She sat in her cubbyhole of an office and turned it over and over in her fingers, unable to grasp the fact that this strange thing had happened to her.

"I am startled," Columbine said. "I never have received a letter before." She had a way, now and then, of saying things that surprised people or made them stare or made them gasp. "A letter," she said slowly, "before you open it, is a thrilling mystery. After you open it, may be it's a dud."

"Absurd," said Miss Cordwainer. "Read it at once."

Columbine postponed the moment she regarded the return address. "It comes," she said. "From several men. Postlewhite, Hoopenlooper, Postlewhite & Dodd. Could it be from all of them?"

"Open it and find out," snapped Miss Cordwainer.

So at last Columbine tore open the envelope and withdrew a letter-sized sheet, which she unfolded.

"The four men," she said, looking up, "are attorneys-at-law." She glanced down the sheet to the signature and her face was disappointed. "Oh," she exclaimed, "it's signed by Mr. Hoopenlooper. I was hoping it would be signed by Mr. Dodd."

"Why by Mr. Dodd?" asked her aunt.

"Because," replied Columbine, "he sounds less pompous."

"Well," asked Miss Cordwainer, "what has the pompous Mr. Hoopenlooper to say?"

"It says," answered Columbine, "that if I will call at his office promptly I will be told something to my advantage."

"How intriguing!" said Miss

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt reiterated Sunday Western determination to protect his city against Soviet pressures. "If the Soviets want their crisis they can have it," he said in a stern radio address.

Meanwhile, in a television interview in the United States (ABC Issues and Answers), McGeorge Bundy, a presidential assistant who specializes in national security affairs, endorsed a proposal for a permanent deputy foreign ministers conference on Berlin and German issues.

At the same time, Bundy approved a proposal by Brandt for a referendum to put West Berliners on record in favor of keeping Allied troops in the city, calling it "a very constructive step."

Arraigned on Murder Charge

DUNCAN, Okla. (AP) — John Dale Radley, 39, of Fort Smith, Ark., and Richard Ellis, 27, of Van Buren, Ark., were to appear today before Judge Will Willis for arraignment on murder charges.

They are charged in the Feb. 9 slaying of Duncan attorney Kelsie C. Beauchamp Jr.

Virgil Zachary, Duncan police chief, and Ernest Lovett, Oklahoma state crime bureau agent, reported that Radley signed a statement Saturday admitting he was the trigger man.

Radley, an ex-convict, was implicated in the slaying by Ellis, another ex-convict who signed a statement earlier on his part in the slaying, police said. Ellis was arrested Wednesday in Salisaw, Okla. Beauchamp was knifed and shot to death at his home here eight months ago.

he said. "If you had phoned for an appointment—"

"You requested me to come promptly."

"Do sit down," he invited, and they occupied comfortable chairs.

"You are Miss Columbine Pepper Druggett?" he asked.

"I am," she replied.

"What was your father's name?"

"Columbine Harrison Druggett," she said.

"When did you last see your father?"

"When I was about 3 years old."

"At the time of his death," Mr. Hoopenlooper said, "he was seized of a valuable piece of property."

"Seized?" asked Columbine.

"How did he seize it?"

"It is a legal term," Mr. Hoopenlooper said, "meaning he owned it. He died testate making you his sole legatee."

"I suppose," she said, "you'll translate that."

"It means that he left to you by will all the property he owned," he answered. "The property," he continued, "consists of a motor court in the city of Phoenix, Ariz., appraised at a considerable sum. And sufficient cash to pay the inheritance tax."

"And this—this species of hotel is mine?"

"Upon," said the lawyer, "the fulfillment of certain conditions precedent."

"So," she said tartly, "there's a catch in it."

"The proviso," said Mr. Hoopenlooper, "is that you take possession and operate the project for one year at a profit, you yourself acting as sole manager. If you succeed in doing so the real estate and contents become your property inalienably. Am I clear?"

"Mr. Hoopenlooper," said Columbine gravely, "you send me. I'm here."

Mr. Hoopenlooper and Miss Cordwainer said, "Awk!" in chorus.

"That," Columbine explained, "is an expression I picked up from Eloise D'Anjou, aged 10, a pupil in our school."

His Country Comes Before Marriage

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

ANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—"My girl and I want to get married," young Ricardo Gil Morales said earnestly. "But my country comes first. There will be some fighting to do."

Violent trouble may be coming soon. It must be met before young men like Ricardo can turn their attention to binding up the wounds inflicted on their nation of 4 million people by 30 years of dictatorship.

"But you can see the hope in their eyes now," says Newell Williams, energetic administrator for the U. S. Alliance for Progress in the Dominican Republic.

This is one country where the Alliance seems to be off and running. It seems within reaching distance of its first significant victory in Latin America over communism and Castroism.

The extreme left will not take this lying down. The tough hard-core of the Castro-Communists, numbers perhaps 70,000 members, disciplined and well organized. Its little Caribbean nation into violent intention obviously is to throw the confusion in advance of national elections scheduled for December.

Communists are believed smuggling arms and ammunition from Cuba to use in a battle to prevent the Dominican Republic from getting on its feet.

"But with or without guns," young Ricardo said, "we will beat them. They have been making most of the noise, but we outnumber them and we are going to make some noise ourselves."

A new slogan is "Basta ya!" Roughly, that is the equivalent of "Knock it off and get to work." It was the rallying cry shouted to huge crowds in Santo Domingo's Independence square last July after violent rioting. It came from Dr. Viriato Fiallo, physician-philosopher who is running for president under the National Civic Union banner. The chances are he will be elected in the December voting, but there are big problems ahead.

Dr. Fiallo says he is confident that with the new impulse created by the vigorous U.S. aid program, the Communists will be beaten back.

"That impulse is as great for us as the Marshall Plan was for Europe, because we are such a small country, and the force of the program is that much stronger," says 67-year-old Dr. Fiallo, who suffered prison and persecution under the dictatorship of the late Rafael Trujillo.

The Alliance's success thus far has been the more notable because it was accomplished in cooperation with a governing seven-man council. The fact that the council, with all its varying viewpoints, worked at all was a source of astonishment.

"If this country is given another year to work out its problems and get things moving, it will have it made," says Williams.

In the brief time the Alliance program has been in operation there has been noticeable improvement in the economy and standard of living. People are eating more and better. A housing program involving self-help has caught on and captured imaginations.

But, says Dr. Fiallo, everything depends upon establishment of order and political stability, and that will not be easy. The forthcoming elections have drawn 25 political parties. Most are fly-by-night affairs. Only two are really in the contest for the presidency.

The main opponent of Dr. Fiallo's UCN is the PRD the Dominican Revolutionary Party, headed by Juan Bosch and somewhat more to the left.

Cotton Still Big Business in Arkansas

By JOHN R. TARR
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Say "Cotton Exchange" and most people think of the big ones at Memphis, New Orleans and New York.

But to central and southeast Arkansas farmers, the words mean Little Rock Cotton Exchange or Pine Bluff Cotton Exchange, depending on which is closer.

The two exchanges handle almost one-third of Arkansas' cotton production, which will be between 4.4 and 4.5 million bales this year.

With an average price of $170 a bale the crop will yield well over half a billion dollars to the state's economy. Cotton remains, and will remain for years to come, the state's largest industry.

A cotton exchange is a place where buyers get together to exchange market information, prices and other pertinent trade information. It also serves as a check on members to guarantee the farmer a square deal.

Few cotton merchants buy on speculation these days. Most have a connection with a textile mill or a cotton shipper and they act as go-betweens in the buyer-seller relationship.

But they buy the cotton from the farmer and sell it to the mill. The farmer gets paid by the buyer who in turn gets his money from the mill.

"Cotton's a cash business," says J. G. Botsford, one of the 32 members of the Little Rock Exchange. "And he said the average merchant's profit is only $1 a bale."

Between the field and the mill, cotton for market is routed to a gin and thence to a warehouse. Most buying is done on a basis of warehouse receipts and classing certificates.

The warehouse receipt proves that the bale of cotton exists, the classing certificates show what quality the fiber is. Fiber quality is the main gauge of price.

The Little Rock Exchange does not operate a futures market. In such markets cotton which may not yet have been planted is bought and sold, sometimes to guarantee that a supply will be available when needed, other times as a price hedge for a merchant.

chant who has commitments to fill.

Botsford said. "What's the use of hedging when the government, through its loan program, virtually guarantees the price of cotton."

Many farmers choose to put their cotton in the loan program instead of selling it immediately, unless he can get a price better than the loan price.

"The farmer can't lose," Botsford said. "If the market goes up, he can redeem his cotton and sell it at the better price. If the market goes down, he just leaves it in the loan and the government has to dispose of it."

A farmer who puts this year's crop into the loan has until July 31, 1963, to decide whether he wants to redeem and sell.

When the cotton is left with the government, it usually is held until it can be disposed of in a foreign market. If it is offered in the domestic market, it must be sold at a price higher than open market is bringing.

The cotton exchange is open all year, except for weekends and holidays, but the big trading season is during the cotton harvest.

Botsford said 80 per cent of Arkansas' cotton is sold to domestic mills with most of the remainder going to overseas shippers.

Arkansas cotton is in good demand, he said, because it is consistently good quality.

Exchange members pay dues to support the operation. Buying and selling rules are drawn up by the Arkansas-Missouri Cotton Trade Association.

"The exchange is more than just a place for merchants to meet and conduct business," Botsford said. "We furnish prices quotations and this is a public service to farmers. The farmer can study the quotations and have a pretty good idea what price he's going to get for his cotton. He'll know whether someone is trying to give him a sharp trade."

All Hell Broke Loose

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Last night my husband, baby and I went to see my mother. My sister and her husband and three children were also there. We sat in the kitchen visiting while Mama fixed something for us to eat. She had just opened the refrigerator door when my four-year-old nephew darted in front of her, snatched a big custard pie from the refrigerator shelf and bit into it before you could say Jack Robinson.

"Oh, my heavens, that was for all of us!" Mama cried, diving for the pie. The four-year-old ducked. His father swung an empty camera case at him. It struck the boy in the seat of the pants, and, at the same time, his strap snapped back, hitting his three-year-old sister below the eye. My brother-in-law grabbed her up, glanced at her eye and said, "You're okay, kid. Quit bawling."

Papa and I, concerned about her eye, told my brother-in-law off. "Keep your noses out of this," Mama warned. "It's nobody's business but the parents' when a child has to be corrected."

Well, all hell broke loose with everybody except my sister, talking at once. She sat silent as a Sphinx. Her husband left in a huff. So did I. Now she wants me to ask you who was right — Mama, or Papa and me? — Auntie Who Cares.

Dear Auntie: Family rows such as you describe are surface manifestations of a deeper cause. Reading between the lines, I would say that your sister and

Dear Helen: I'm a 16-year-old girl who, through bad associates, got into trouble with the police. My parents, though terribly upset, stood loyally by. Because of their understanding I am slowly becoming a credit instead of disgrace to myself and them. New friends, of whom I can be proud are replacing the old. Thanks to a forgiving father and mother I again live in a wholesome, happy world. Please print this for the benefit of other willful teenagers who, without stopping to think how much their parents love them, threaten to leave home and lead their own lives. Little do they know how dreadful such a life can be. —One Who Came Back

Dear One: Parent, as well as child, can be at fault. Neither realizes that dissension between them is almost inevitable; the reason being that youngsters, even the most incorrigible, are rebelling in a desperate effort to prove their maturity. It takes something like your unhappy experience to jolt both sides into a more tolerant relationship.

Alabama May Be Heading for Downfall

By ED CORRIGAN

Is Alabama, the proud defending national college football champion, headed for a downfall?

For two weeks in a row the Crimson Tide, now boasting a record of 15 consecutive victories, has had to struggle to overcome its opposition. Last Saturday, Alabama staggered past Houston, 14-3. The week before, Bear Bryant's outfit scored an unimpressive 17-7 decision over Vanderbilt — a team that has managed to score just 13 points in losing all four of its games.

Worse yet, by comparison, Mississippi, Alabama's No. 1 rival for the tough Southeastern Conference title, clobbered Houston, 40-7, just nine days ago. Alabama and Mississippi don't meet during the regular season.

Mississippi, No. 5 in the country, had an open day last Saturday and this week meets Tulane, Louisiana State, No. 6, and another threat for the SEC crown, knocked Miami from the unbeaten ranks 17-3, and next plays Kentucky. It's just possible that the LSU-Ole Miss game on Nov. 3 could settle the league race.

Meanwhile, the run for the Eastern championship, has been thrown into a state of merry confusion with Army's 9 victory over Penn State, ranked No. 3 in the nation.

But perhaps the most surprising team in the country is Miami of Ohio, which does most of its business in the Mid-American Conference. The Redskins defeated ninth-ranked Purdue, one of the toughest from the Big Ten, 20-7, last Saturday.

Second-ranked Texas, the favorite for the Southwest Conference championship, also could be in for trouble. The Longhorns did nothing to up their prestige in a narrow 9-6 victory over Oklahoma that ran their record to 4-0.

Ohio State, which topped all the way from first to tenth in the poll last week after being beaten by UCLA, took its wrath out on Illinois with a 51-15 pasting. The Buckeyes play Northwestern, which could be a problem this week. Northwestern's high scoring Wildcats won their third straight, topping Minnesota 34-22.

On the West Coast, Southern California, favorite for the Big Six title, took the day off. The Trojans are No. 4. Seventh-ranked Washington barely edged Oregon State, 14-13.

West Virginia became another giant-killer by downing Pitt, 15-8. Georgia Tech, driving to regain a national ranking, shut out Tennessee, 17-0. Duke throttled California, 21-7; and Texas Christian remained in the Southwest Conference race with a 35-13 triumph over Texas Tech.

Packers Look Like Champs in Victory

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Green Bay Packers ably demonstrated they can get the job done even without the services of Paul Hornung, but it's doubtful the Washington Redskins would still be riding high were it not for their clutch combo of Norm Snead and Bobby Mitchell.

Hornung, the National Football League's scoring leader and an all-around star for the defending champion Packers, was forced to sit out the second half of the Packers' 48-21 victory over the Minnesota Vikings Sunday, as Snead and Mitchell were all present and accounted for in St. Louis.

The two live-wires of the still-unbeaten 'Skins provided the clutch plays that helped Washington gain a 17-17 tie with the St. Louis Cardinals and keep first place in the Eastern Conference. Snead's 36-yard pass to Mitchell set up Bobby Khatut's 29-yard field goal with only 13 seconds to play.

The tie enabled the amazing 'Skins to run their record to three victories and two ties. The Pittsburgh Steelers upset New York

20-17 and tied the Giants for second place, each with a 3-2 record.

With its easy victory over the winless Vikings, Green Bay stayed ahead of the Detroit Lions, who took a 13-10 decision over Los Angeles. Green Bay is 5-0, Detroit 4-1.

In other Sunday action, Baltimore surprised the Cleveland Browns 36-14 as Johnny Unitas threw three touchdown passes; the San Francisco 49ers won their third straight, beating Chicago 34-27; and the Dallas Cowboys showed some of their new offensive power in beating Philadelphia 41-19.

In the American Football Houston quarterback George Blanda threw six touchdown passes as the Oilers routed New York 56-17 and the Denver Broncos defeated winless Oakland 23-6 in the only Sunday games.

Hornung suffered a twisted right knee after scoring Green Bay's first TD against the Vikings Sunday. But he was hardly missed as quarterback Bart Starr took over the controls and tossed touchdown passes of 15 and 55 yards to Max McGee and another of 18 yards to Boyd Dowler.

Oilers Climb Back Into First Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Houston Oilers are back in their accustomed spot, first place in the American Football League's eastern division, and George Blanda is back—period.

Blanda, the seemingly ageless Oilers' quarterback who has led them to two straight AFL championships threw six touchdowns Sunday as Houston routed the sagging New York Titans 56-17.

It was old stuff for Blanda though for he's been a spark ever since taking over the helm for Houston in 1960. But more important (the feat sent Houston in front in the eastern division) getting the edge on Boston, a 27-7 loser Friday night to the Dallas Texans.

In the only other AFL game Sunday, Denver kept its western

Mangolds Take Fishing Derby

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Mangold barely beat the deadline to win the first annual World Series of Sport Fishing Sunday with 378 points.

The Mangolds weren't ranked among the top 10 finishers until they brought nine big bass off Lake Hamilton just seconds before the deadline.

The catch put them six points ahead of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Norton of Marion, Ind., who had been the leaders until the last 10 seconds.

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Peden of Hot Springs, leaders after Saturday's round, finished third with 346½ points.

division-leading pace, riding Gene Mingo's 17-points to a 23-6 victory over Oakland.

Blanda, who has now thrown 14 TD passes for the Oilers this year, hit Bill Groman for 12 and 54 yards, Bob McLeod with two others of 25 and 10 yards, one of 13 yards to Dave Smith and another to Charlie Hennigan for 20 yards.

Dick Christy's 58-yard punt return, Ed Cooke's recovery of a fumbled punt in the end zone and Bill Shockley's 40-yard field goal got the 'Tants' points. New York is now 2-4.

Delayed Series May Resume in Frisco Today

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The off-delayed sixth game of the World Series between New York and San Francisco "positively" was to be played at noon today with the Yankees' Willie Ponder facing the Giants' Billy Pierce. The weatherman promised good weather.

The veteran left-hander had been primed since last Friday but the worst October storm to lash the Bay area in 58 years forced Commissioner Ford Frick to postpone the game Sunday for the third straight day. The sky was sunny, but the playing field still was soggy.

A sellout crowd of some 44,000 was expected to attend what may be the World Series finale. The Yankees, leading in games, three to two, needed one more triumph to post their 26th championship since they won their first in 1923.

Both pitchers were well rested. Pierce, who has never lost in Candlestick Park, winning all 12 decisions, had not pitched since he was beaten in the third series game, at Yankee Stadium, last Sunday.

Ford, winner of five straight series games, including a 6-2 triumph here in the opener, last appeared on the mound a week ago when the Giants evened the series at two-all with a 7-1 victory. Ford left after six innings with the score tied at 2-2 and was not charged with the loss.

Manager Ralph Houk of the Yankees went with the same line-up he employed in all but the second game, when first baseman Bill Skowron and catcher Elmer Howard were sidelined because of injuries. Manager Alvin Dark made one change, switching from Tom Haller to Ed Bailey behind the plate. Each is a left-handed batter.

Dark reiterated that Jack Sanford, his right-handed ace, would pitch the seventh game, if one was needed. Houk said he was still undecided between Ralph Terry and Bill Stafford. Terry out-pitched Sanford in the fifth game, and Stafford beat Pierce in the third. Sanford won the second from Terry.

The two teams, bared and physically still from four days of inactivity, journeyed by bus Sunday to Modesto, 90 miles away, and worked out for two hours at Del Webb Stadium.

When to Fish or Hunt Solunar Tables

By John Alden Knight

The schedule of Solunar periods as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major periods are shown in bold face type. These begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours there after. The minor periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Bobcats Drop Out of Grid Rating List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pine Bluff's Zebras, sole owners of the Big Nine Conference lead, took all first place votes and heavily led the Associated Press Arkansas High School Football Poll.

Coach Ralph Brooks' team amassed 70 points, 18 more than the second place team.

The Zebras, led by Gordon Norwood and Walter Weaver, whipped Little Rock Hall last Friday night.

Coach Ralph Brooks' team amassed 70 points, 18 more than the second place team.

The Zebras, led by Gordon Norwood and Walter Weaver, whipped Little Rock Hall last Friday night to go to the top of the state's mightiest league.

But other Big Nine schools attracted less attention this week. For the first time the first four places are not occupied by Big Nine schools.

Jonesboro's mighty Hurricane, a Region 2AA titan, barged into second place with 52 points and Conway nailed down a tie for fourth with Hall. Conway, the Region 3AA leader, and Jonesboro are undefeated.

Another undefeated Class AA team, Rogers, held ninth place, but was just two points out of seventh, where Helena holds forth. The Indians, also of Region 2AA, were seventh and have yet to be topped. Rogers has been running wild in Region 1AA.

Hope, which now has lost two consecutive games, dropped from mention in the poll after last week's loss to Camden Fairview.

Results of the poll, with first place votes in parentheses, and score, based on 10 points for a first place vote, nine for second, etc., at right.

Tigers Edged by Texarkana Saturday

The Washington High Lions of Texarkana edged out the Yergers here Saturday night 26-19. The Tigers were not able to stop the Lions in their aerial attack which accounted for three of the Lions' TDs.

The rivals played a 0-0 first quarter and a half-time score of 7-7. The Yergers' Tigers turned in their best performance during this game. The Yergers missed a few scoring opportunities because they failed to have down field blocking. Both teams turned on the scoring in second half. The Lions scoring three TDs and the Tigers two TDs.

The Tigers scored their two touchdowns from the air, passes from the QB Horace Phillips to Henry Williams for 65 yards and one to Archie Frazell for 25 yards. In the closing seconds of the game, the Tigers had possession of the ball and threatening to score to tie the game when the game ended.

The Tigers forward ball, Walton, Sullivan, Stuart, Criner, Reland and Frazell with line backs Huntley, Daniels and Turnline again gave stiff opposition to the Lions running game. Horace Phillips and Billy Williams behind the blocking of Ronald Stuart were able to pick up a few yards against the big line of the Lions.

Friday night the Yergers Tigers will play their annual Homecoming game with the Jones High Dragons as their visitors.

Porker Cagers Start Workouts

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks were to head for the hardwood for the first time today as fall basketball practice opened.

Coach Glen Rose's squad will have seven lettermen, including Tommy Boyer and Larry Wolford of Fort Smith, Jerry Rogers and Larry Hogue of North Little Rock, Jim Wilson of Cherry Valley, Skip Coffman of Little Rock and Bobby Anderson of Pine Bluff.

Rose's big problem is going to be replacing Jerry Carlton, the standout gunner who graduated from the team. Carlton's career total scoring was over 1,000 points and he bucketed 438 last season.

Indians Post Victory No. 4

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas State College Indians gained their fourth straight victory Saturday night, pelting Mississippi College 20-0 on a rain-soaked field.

The Indians, undefeated this year, traveled 51 yards for a touchdown in the second period. Fullback Dick Martillo went over from four yards out.

In the second half a 39-yard run by Sammy Weir capped a 74-yard drive and gave the Indians a 13-0 lead.

The Indians got their third tally when defensive halfback Eddie

Teachers and Tech in Showdown

UNDATED AIC ROUNDUP

Arkansas State Teachers set the stage for the annual Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference showdown battle with Arkansas Tech by whipping Harding 26-0 at Searcy Saturday night.

The victory gave the Bears three AIC triumphs, same as Tech, with the clubs scheduled to collide Saturday night at Conway.

Tech had its perfect record marred by a 7-7 tie with Jacksonville (Ala.) State College Saturday night at Russellville.

In other AIC games, Henderson routed Southern State 26-6 at Arkadelphia and Ouachita edged A&M 6-0 at Monticello.

Teachers wrecked Harding's title hope in the runaway game which marked the high point of a Bear comeback. ASTC lost two non-conference games at the start of the season. Harding, which also has lost to Tech, was eliminated from the race.

The Bears scored in each quarter on Coy Clark's 26-yard run-back on a pass interception, Herbie Cook's 15-yard pass to Bill Tiner, Steve Hatchcote's two-yard run and Robert Stone's 34-yard sprint.

Ouachita drove 67-yards in the second quarter and sent fullback Robert McGlothlin crashing over from the one-foot line for the only score in the A&M game.

Henderson and Southern State swapped first half touchdowns, then the Reddies took command after intermission on Don Chase's 15-yard run.

Frosting was supplied when Johnny Benefield blocked a Southern punt at the five and carried Rickus intercepted a Mississippi College pass and ran it 65 yards into the end zone.

Arkansas State ground out 212 yards total offense, 192 of it on the ground. They held Mississippi College to 95 yards.

Porks, Texans to Battle for Loop Title

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The unbeaten Arkansas Razorbacks turn their eyes on Texas Tech's Longhorns, that is, this week in a game which probably will decide the Southwest Conference championship.

Arkansas plunged from the glow of a 28-0 lead into the shadow of despair Saturday before tending off Baylor's armored Bears 28-21 for their fourth straight victory. Texas meanwhile was polishing off Oklahoma 9-6 in its fourth success. Technically, the Razorbacks lead the conference at 2-0, but Saturday night's game in Austin is the big one this year, and everybody knows it.

Arkansas was a swift miracle of offense perfection for a quarter and a half in the Baylor game. Then the Razorbacks gave up three quick touchdowns and scrambled through the fourth quarter protecting a slim seven-point advantage.

Great defensive plays by end Jim Grizzle, tackle Wesley Bryant and guard Dave Walston finally blunted a potent Bear passing attack built around the pinpoint pitches of quarterback Don Trull.

It was Baylor's game from the moment Trull hit end James Pearson with a 10-yard strike to get the Bears on the scoreboard in the second quarter.

Until then it appeared as if Arkansas, under the able direction of passing - running quarterback Billy Moore was headed for another runaway victory.

But the Baylor defense suddenly turned mean. It thwarted one Arkansas scoring threat with an interception of a Moore pass at the goal line and, after two more Baylor touchdowns closed the gap, the Bear line hurled back fur Porker thrusts in a brilliant goal-line stand to keep the Waco visitors in the game.

Those defensive efforts accounted for two firsts of the season for Arkansas. The interception marked the first time a Moore pass has been picked off and the goal-line stand marked the first time the Porkers have been stopped after they got that close. They had first and goal at the four.

Arkansas scored first with less than four minutes gone after George Walker returned the kick-off 51 yards. Moore contributed an 18-yard pass to end Jerry Lamb in a drive that ended with fullback Danny Brabham plunging over from the one.

Early in the second period Baylor punter Mike Broyles fumbled the snap and was downed on his own 17. Arkansas smashed quickly to paydirt with Moore again crossing from the one.

A pass interception by Ken Hatfield, Moore's relief at safety, started the Razorbacks on a 57-yard scoring drive. This time Billy Gray, the No. 2 quarterback, dove over from the one.

To that point it had been a great Arkansas offensive show, but it was all over.

The Trull to Pearson pass was Baylor's only first half score. But the Bears cashed a touchdown on a 29-yard Trull to Ronnie Goodwin connection early in the third period and scored again quickly after Arkansas fumbled on the kickoff return.

Suddenly Baylor was back in the ball game and determined to stay.

But then it was the Arkansas defense's time to get stern. With Grizzle, Walston and Bryant dogging Trull on every play, the Razorbacks turned back threat after threat during a scoreless fourth period.

Despite the fright, the final score marked the most points Arkansas has scored on Baylor since 1913 when the Porkers won 34-0.

The statistics were as even as the game. Baylor outgained the Razorbacks in the air 224 to 145 yards, but Arkansas was vastly superior on the ground with 188 yards to only 4 for the Bears.

Now the Razorbacks turn toward Texas, ranked No. 2 nationally last week. Texas is the only Southwest Conference team holding a series edge over the Porkers since Coach Frank Broyles took the Razorback helm after the 1957 season. Texas has won three, lost only one in the last four Razorback - Longhorn meetings.

If Arkansas can win this one, it will be on the downgrade toward a fourth straight championship or co-championship.

the ball over for a touchdown and when fullback Terry Thurman scored from the four following a 69-yard runback of an intercepted pass by Ronnie Kerr.

Duke Wells got the first Henderson touchdown on an eighty-yard run. Southern State's Gary Elia tied the count with a 79 yard scoring run.
